Security forces to tell landowner rights

NASA to overfly NSTL buffer zone in effort to avert further trespass

Increasing complaints from landowners in the NASA-NSTL Buffer Zone concerning their retained rights on lands under perpetual easement to the United States government have led to a surveillance increase involving both site and county policing agencies. Included in the NASA effort will be both aerial and ground force monitoring, according to Ed Ling, chief legal counsel. In a statement to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors this month, Ling outlined both the government's and land owner's rights within the buffer zone.

After spelling out some apparent misconceptions of the Buffer Zone ownership situation and the rights of lessees, counsel gave details of the new patrol, its functions, and means of enforcement.

Finally the document indicated aircraft will be employed on a regular schedule to monitor activities throughout the entire area involved.

The entire statement of the text follows...

"The United States Government has acquired only a restrictive easement in and over the lands which comprise the NASA National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) Acoustic-Restrictive Easement Area, or 'Buffer Zone.' This easement was acquired for the purpose of mitigating the harmful effects of very loud and low frequency sound waves which emanate from the NSTL as certain rocket and other testing activity is conducted at the NSTL. The Government's restrictive easement consists of the right, within this area, to prohibit human habitation or human occupancy of dwellings and other buildings, as well as the right to prohibit the erection or other construction of structures susceptible of being used for human habitation or human occupancy (including camping trailers, mobile homes, tents and like structures). The Government also has the right to go upon these lands for the purpose of surveillance and to enforce its rights. It can also post signs thereon indicating its interest in the land.

"With few exceptions, where scattered tracts of land were purchased in fee by the Government, the land itself in the NSTL Acoustic-Restrictive Easement Area is actually owned by private citizens. They may utilize the land for any purpose not inconsistent with the easement estate acquired by the Government, and this includes recreation, timber production, grazing, hay, agriculture, the sale of borrow material, fishing ponds, and mineral, (e.g., oil, sand and gravel) excavation. That is to say, the private landowners retain all right, title, interest and privileges not specifically acquired by the Government.

"In recognition that there are apparently some misconceptions in the general public as to the foregoing, i.e., exactly what the Government's interest in the NSTL Acoustic-Restrictive Easement Area is vis-a-vis that of the private citizens who own most of the land which comprises this Buffer Zone, NASA-NSTL has undertaken three activities designed to assist in apprising those concerned. At appropriate times, releases to the news media will be issued which will explain these respective interests. Secondly, signs are being erected at the entrances to and exits from the Easement Area to further advise the public; other signs are being placed inside the Easement Area at strategic locations, also, for this purpose.

"Thirdly, to further assist the private owners in the complementary protection of their rights in their property, equally as well as to protect the Government's interests, the NASA-

NSTL is arranging to have its security forces assist private landowners who experience difficulty in explaining the foregoing situation to trespassers and/or others who have a misunderstanding with regard thereto. A private landowner who finds himself in such a situation may, at any time during the daylight hours, telephone the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and request such assistance. The Hancock County Sheriff's Department will relay this request to the NASA-NSTL Security forces, which will, in turn, send a Security Officer to meet the landowner and to go with him to explain the limited rights the Government has in the Easement Area. The NSTL Security Officer who responds to such a request is not a law enforcement official. However, he will be prepared to (NASA SECURITY-PAGE 2-A)

Bay resident asks tax bite cut on Beach

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Mrs. E. R. Cardin, of North Beach, Bay St. Louis, on Wednesday petitioned Bay St. Louis City Council for a change of assessment on her family dwelling. She was represented through her attorney, William Frisbie.

According to Frisbie, the property is the highest single family assessment in the City of Bay St. Louis for the tax year 1977.

Frisbie told council, "Bay St. Louis hasn't done any assessments during the past five years, they just take county figures and double them. My clients home's assessment of $27,000 on improvements is totally out of line in comparison to other beach homes. The council should be looking into all the city's assessments."

Council President James Thrifflie commented, "I think the whole city has to be re-assessed," a view endorsed by council.

The petition's Exhibit "A" gave the names, parcel numbers, and assessments of 54 Bay beachfront properties. The lowest assessment shown was $3,100, the next highest to Mrs. Cardin's being $26,400.

Council members took the petition under advisement.

Frisbie requested his client's improvements be re-assessed at $10,000, to be fair to her when taken in comparison to other Bay beach dwellings.

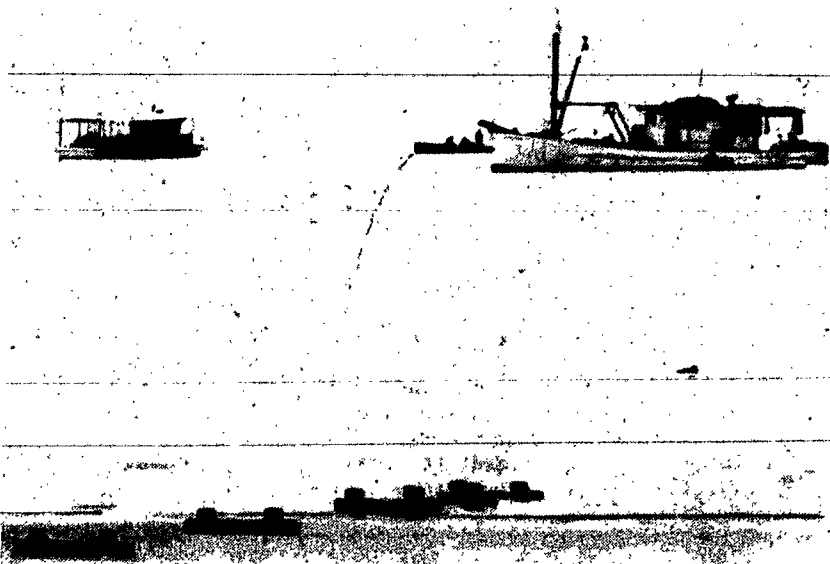

In other action council accepted a bid on a police car from Turah-Lane Chevrolet in the amount of $4,370.72. One other bid was received from Hille Oldsmobile at $4,576.43. Both bids were to advertised specifications. President Thrifflie made and received a unanimous vote on a motion for a change order to add air conditioning and a heavy duty radiator.

Councilman Wilmer Seymour made a motion to accept a school loan for $150,000 for construction of school cafeteria at the Junior High School and renovating two classrooms, now being used in connection with the cafeteria. The motion was seconded by Councilman Fred Wagner and carried.

In other school related matters, council approved a resolution that the superintendent of education give the city clerk monthly statements and docket by the 10th of the following month, to be posted at City Hall by the City Clerk as required by law. A copy of the yearly audit is also to be made available to the city council.

Penton continues at Murphy

Four Hancock County principals to return, contracts renewed

by EDGAR PEREZ
The Hancock County School Board has renewed annual contracts of the system's four principals for the 1978-1979 school year.

The contract renewals were approved by the board at a recess meeting Wednesday morning.

Superintendent of Schools Terry Randolph said contracts for assistant superintendents will be considered by the board in April at the time of teacher contract renewal.

The four principals are Thad Haskins, Hancock North Central High School; J. D. Penton, Charles B. Murphy Elementary School, Pearlinton; Harlan Hill, Gulfview Elementary, Lakeshore; and James O'Hara, Hancock North Central Elementary.

Returning as principal of Hancock North Central High School next year will be Thad Haskins who is currently serving his first year in the system.

For the previous five years, he had served as principal of Braxton High School.

Haskins, a native of Kosciusko, holds a AA certificate and a master's degree. He will return at an annual salary of $16,214.

Randolph said principals' salaries in the Hancock system are based on a formula which includes an administrator's basic teacher salary plus a graduated scale based on the number of teachers and pupils in his school.

Dean of the Hancock County principals is J.D. Penton of Charles J. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlinton.

Penton is a veteran of 31 years as a teacher and administrator. He is the only principal in the system holding a AAA certificate which represents a master's degree plus an additional 30 hours of graduate work.

He has served 13 years in the Hancock County schools, including three years as principal of Hancock North Central High; five years as teacher and guidance counselor at Murphy and Gulfview Elementary in Lakeshore; and four years as principal of Gulfview.

He is currently in his first year as principal at Murphy.

In addition, Penton served two years as assistant principal at Long Beach High School and one year as assistant principal and teacher at Carriere.

He was a teacher at Pearl River, La., and served one year with the veterans' on-farm training program in Picayune. (PRINCIPALS-PAGE 4-A)

Freshwater diversion opponents surface at Corps' N.O. hearing

by EDGAR PEREZ
An expected surge of opposition to a proposal to divert freshwater from the Mississippi River into Mississippi Sound was voiced in New Orleans Thursday at a second U.S. Army Corps of Engineers hearing on the issue.

The Corps heard no opposition to the proposal in Gulfport Feb. 1 at the first hearing in a study prompted by a Congressional Transportation and Public Works resolution introduced by Representative Trent Lott of Mississippi.

Mississippi Gulf Coast commercial seafood and conservation interests expressed wholehearted support for the proposal to introduce freshwater into the Mississippi and Louisiana estuarine areas.

The freshwater is thought to be beneficial to the development of oysters and other aquatic life in the coastal areas which at one time were intermittently washed in the overflow of freshwater from flooding rivers and streams.

The developing efficiency of levee and canal systems in channeling the freshwater directly into the Gulf of Mexico has left the estuarine areas victim to saltwater intrusion, believed to seriously detrimental to juvenile seafoods.

"I'm glad to see all the experts we've got, because 20 years ago we didn't have experts...we had oysters," said Buras, La., fisherman Leopold Tallanchat at Thursday's hearing.

Some Louisiana seafood interests strongly opposed the freshwater diversion proposals, while others said they would support measures allowing a carefully controlled flow of fresh water to the Mississippi Sound.

"If water from the Mississippi River is allowed to flow through Lake Pont-chartrain, one of the biggest problems is going to be siltation," said Norman Hedrick, an oyster farmer since 1949.

"From the previous openings of the Bonne Carre Spillway, the shoreline of (CORPS HEARING-PAGE 4-A)

Bay city gas quota slashed

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Bay St. Louis Mayor, Larry Bennett was informed late Thursday by Robert Voorhees, district sales manager of United Gas, Mobile, that effective immediately the city will sustain a reduction of 33,000 cu. ft. per day for the month of February.

The original February allocation for Bay St. Louis was 1,724,000 cu. ft. per day, the curtailment reduces this figure to 1,691,000 cu. ft.

Mayor Bennett requested that citizens try and cut consumption of gas as much as possible. The cost to the city is $1.575 per 1,000 cu. ft., if the city goes over the daily allocation, the average cost is $5 per 1,000 cu. ft.

Mayor Bennett stated, on Friday that if the city usage goes over the allocation, the cost will have to be passed on to the consumer.

"The thermostat in every city building will be set at 68 degrees and not moved higher, and if possible set a little lower," Bennett said.

He said, "We are hoping that gas using citizens will help us remain within our quota, so we won't have to curtail commercial and school users. City Hall is in the process of calling all the schools, both public and private, and commercial users, asking each to try and use as little gas as possible.

Mayor Bennett is worried lest the extra cold weather this winter may put the city into a penalty situation for the first time. Bay St. Louis has never been penalized before for going over their quota, but with the quota reduction, he feels that it could easily happen.

"The quota Bay St. Louis receives now was set in 1972 when there wasn't as many users," the Mayor explained.

Waveland's utility system, also supplied by United Gas, said they hadn't heard by late Friday, about any curtailments to their allotment.

FROM THE OUTSIDE—Lady Pirate June Ward, 10, takes a shot from the outside. Ward played one of her best games of the season in Thursday night's clash with Oak Grove, scoring a game high 20 points.

CONFUSION UNDER THE GOAL—Theresa Cannon, 25, a guard for the Pass Christian Lady Pirates, trips over a fallen Oak Grove player under the Warriorettes' goal, as Polly Necaise, 22, and June Ward, 10, of Pass High look for a rebound.

Lady Pirates double score on Oak Grove Warriorettes

By SHARON WALLS

Second seeded Pass Christian Lady Pirates out-netted the Oak Grove Warriorettes by 32 points to double the Oak Grove tally, 64-32, putting Pass Christian in the semi-finals of the District VIII Class A tournament in Brooklyn.

Theresa Cannon opened the scoring for the Lady Pirates with two from the line, followed by Robin Roberts with a net from under the basket and Polly Necaise with one of two free shots, to give the Pass Christian girls a 5-0 opening. The Warriorettes were shut out until two consecutive baskets put them on the board with two minutes left in the first quarter.

Pass Christian and Oak Grove were neck and neck for the rest of the first, as the Warriorettes stayed only one point behind. A jump shot from June Ward near the sideline swished through the net as the buzzer sounded, giving the Lady Pirates an 11-8 advantage going into the second set.

Oak Grove gave the ball to Pass Christian on intercepted passes, steals and forced jumps throughout the second period, allowing 16 points for the Lady Pirates. Ward added several baskets from near the sideline to close out the first half 27-12 in Pass Christian's favor.

Midway through the third set, Oak Grove and Pass Christian began trading off points. Diane Ulrich sank two from the line for the Pirates, the Pass Christian's Roberts drew her fourth foul of the game, giving Oak Grove two points. Roberts came back with a basket from under the goal. The Warriorettes followed with two and Roberts retaliated with another score to end the third 41-21.

The Lady Pirates out-scored the Warriorettes, 23-11, in the final set to put the game away. Pass's Ward exploded with four consecutive nets in the last half of the fourth: two from the sideline area, one on a lay-up, and one on a pass from Cannon following a rebound by Roberts. Necaise, center for the Pass High girls, sank two baskets from the corner in the last few minutes while Luella Fairconeture netted the final two points to round out the tally.

"I feel we really played a good game tonight," said Jenny Ladner, Lady Pirate coach. "I only hope we play that well against North Central in the semi-finals. June Ward played one of her best games of the season tonight."

Ward, with 20 points, led scoring for Pass Christian. Roberts sank seven goals for 14. Necaise got 11 and Cannon, 10.

INSIDE THE LANE—Steve Nunn, 54, picks up two points for the HNC Hawks from inside the lane. Hancock won a slot in the semi-finals against Stone County with their defeat of FCAHS, Thursday.

Hawks blast Aggies out of the circle

by SHARON WALLS

The Hancock Hawks sank better than 100 points for the fifth time this season in the first round Class A battle over Forrest County Agricultural High School, 107-60, on the Aggies' home court Thursday in Brooklyn.

Most of the scores in the last half of the first quarter were made from the free-throw line. Pat Necaise stepped to the line with two of two for the Hawks, giving them a six point lead with 3:15 in the period. Aggie Clancy Clark made the next score on a jump just outside the lane. Alan Dedeaux went to the line following a holding foul under Hancock's basket, sinking two for the Hawks.

FCAHS got four points from free throws by the end of the first set. David Ladner put the icing on the first period cake for Hancock with a basket on a high jumper just as the bell sounded, leaving the tally, 18-14.

The Hawks blasted open the second quarter with six quick points on shots from Dedeaux, Dean Shaw, and Necaise. David Ladner took a rebound on an Aggie shot then heaved the ball the length of the court to Dedeaux, in the clear under the HNC goal. Hawk Barry Arcement went to the line, making good on two of two. Then before the FCAHS boys could move the ball past mid-court, Shaw made a steal, passing off to Arcement for two more.

Arcement put in a busy second quarter, scoring two field goals of his own, one on a screen by recent transfer Steve Nunn, and setting up two others with a steal and a rebound.

With 30 seconds in the half, sophomore Moses Hill stepped to the line for Hancock. Hill sank one of two, then bounced the second shot off the rim which Necaise rebounded and tipped in for two points. Shaw netted a jump shot on an intercepted Aggie pass with 20 seconds on the clock, and Hill got off another jumper before the buzzer, giving Hancock 34 points in the second set alone.

Opening the last half with a 52-27 lead, HNC Coach Roland Ladner substituted his second team mid-way through the third period. With 12 seconds before the final set, Nunn tipped in a shot by Hill to widen the Hawk lead, 75-45. Zachery Ladner returned the favor, tipping in a jump shot by Nunn for another two points with six minutes in the game.

Mark Ladner hit a basket for two points with 1:44 before the final bell to put the Hawks over the 100 mark, 100-52. FCAHS came back with a basket. Zachery Ladner was sent to the line two consecutive times for three. Mark Ladner hit the net for two inside the 60 second mark followed by a quick one for Forrest County. Ladner scored again for the Hawks, and a final FCAHS basket took the game to the finish.

"We were shooting cold that first quarter," commented Coach Ladner. "If we can get past the Stone County team tomorrow I believe we can make a good show at the South State tournament."

Lead scorer for the Hawks was Dedeaux with 11 field goals and two free shots for 24 total points. Necaise contributed 14, and Shaw, 12.

"It is a bit unfair that Hancock is scheduled to play Stone County before the finals," added the Hawks' coach. "Both teams have been up against some tough competition and both could have represented our area well in the State tournaments."

It is unfortunate that we are seeded in "the same bracket."

Loiacano claims strength program essential to win

"A winning team is built in the off-season."

"A good strength system and physical development plan is essential to any successful athletic program," commented J. E. Loiacano, former Bay High football coach who recently signed a contract as strength coach at Mississippi State.

Loiacano, a native of Bay St. Louis, first became interested in weights while in high school at St. Stanislaus where he was a star fullback, in 1959, known for his ability to run, pass or block equally well.

"Weightlifting is something I have been interested in for many years," Loiacano said. "It was important to me as a player, and I emphasize it as a coach."

After graduation from high school, Loiacano went on to Pearl River Junior College where he was named an All-American Junior College player, then to Mississippi State. He was a running back on MSU's 1963 Liberty Bowl championship team.

Hawkettes get

21st victory

The Hawkettes of Hancock North Central racked up their 21st win, 65-23, over East Central's girls Wednesday in the opening round of the District VIII Class A tournament in Brooklyn.

North Central netted 22 points to four points for East Central in the first quarter to set the pace for the game.

For the Hawkettes, Sheila Ladner found the basket ten times for 20 points. Shelly Dedeaux contributed 12 points and Swannier 10. All but two of the Hancock team scored at least one point.

Continental Football League, Loiacano's professional career was ended by a knee injury after two years. He returned to Bay St. Louis as head football coach in 1969.

While at Bay High, Loiacano began implementing his own systems of strength development.

"We never had a losing season," commented the coach. The Tigers, under his direction, won several conference titles and bowl games. In 1973, Loiacano's last season at Bay High, the Tigers were 9-1.

During the years at Bay High, Loiacano worked with a young man from St. Stanislaus named Joseph "Doc" Rhodes. That student won the World AAU Weightlifting Championships this past November in Perth, Australia.

Loiacano transferred to Gulfport East in 1974, and was later named head coach of the consolidated Gulfport Admirals. He led the Admirals to an 11-1 record this past season, and the Big Eight Title.

The Admirals' director served as head coach of the South squad in the 1977 Mississippi High School All-Star game and was named Mississippi Coach of the Year for his work in the '77 season. His overall coaching record is 69-27-1.

"My first task as strength coach at State will be to coordinate a program with the on-field coaches," said Loiacano. "We will have to evaluate what the boys are doing now. The football team is going into spring training and we need to develop the body parts each player will use most."

"I believe in developing the whole body, but there are good exercises to help with the movements the players use most. For example, a running back must develop strength and speed in his legs."

"Weightlifting has been around a long time," said Loiacano. "Now the idea is coming in big as more and more coaches are realizing the importance of it in all athletics."

A noted authority on the subject, the coach is currently writing a book on his system of weight development and its effect on his Bay High and Gulfport teams.

Besides serving as strength for the overall athletic program at State, Loiacano will also be Dormitory Supervisor of McArthur Athletic Dormitory.

Fourth quarter score not enough for Pass Pirates

By SHARON WALLS

Vanceave rolled over the Pass Christian Pirates, 67-45, despite an 18 point fourth quarter comeback by the Pirates Thursday in District VIII Class A competition at Brooklyn.

The Pirates fought the Bulldogs to a standstill in the first twelve minutes. With four minutes in the first quarter, John Wittman brought the Pirates up to 9-8 with a jump shot. Pete Batson of Vanceave and Cullen Swannier of Pass High traded baskets for four points each.

With four minutes in the first half, the Pirates were still only one point behind, 17-16. The Bulldogs sank two quick baskets to pull ahead, then moved steadily out front. John Swannier managed a jump shot from the outside as Wittman screened for him. Then Batson stepped to the line for the Bulldogs, sinking two points to give Vanceave a 25-18 halftime score.

N.E. RANKED 10TH Northeast Mississippi Junior College, with a 20-2 record, was ranked number ten, in the nation this week by the National Junior College Athletic Association.

Costly Pirate turnovers gave Vanceave a good start in the third quarter. Charles Riles made an intercepted pass good for the Bulldogs, then minutes later took the tip from a jump between Cullen Swannier and Ben Wells under the Bulldog basket for two. John Swannier scored one of the three Pass High baskets of the quarter on a jump shot from outside with four minutes in the period. Vanceave netted 22 points that set to roll up the score, 47-24.

Cullen Swannier and Wittman put together a concerted Pirate comeback in the final quarter but were unable to make up the difference. Swannier sparked a rally with a net under the basket at mid-fourth quarter, quickly followed by Wittman with two points. Barry Jackson of Vanceave broke in with a goal for the Bulldogs, but Swannier was right back, this time with a shot from the corner. Riles took a free shot for Vanceave, giving them a 65-36 margin. Wittman got a hook shot for pass High, and Riles followed with the last Bulldog basket. Cullen Swannier sank two more points from his favorite corner, then John Swannier netted the final score of the game on a steal with 24 seconds left.

Wittman sank 12 points for the Pirates, followed by Virgil Swannier with 10. Batson netted 17 for the Bulldogs, Riles 14, and Ben and Jesse Wells 13 each.

Opinion/Ellis Cuevas

We get letters, but...!

We receive weekly many letters to the editor, but we are unable to run them for one reason, no signatures. Of course there are a few that are not in good taste or too lengthy.

We appreciate our readers expressing their opinions, and would like to let others see them as well as us.

To those of you who sign your letters, we appreciate them very much, and we hope you continue expressing your opinions.

We welcome comments from our readers on subjects of general public interest. All letters must be signed, home address given and conform to published standards, be brief, in good taste, and reason.

Youth Center location

Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

Concerning the article in the Sea Coast Echo, I would have to agree with the residents who object to having a youth center built in their neighborhood. It seems that the proper place would be in a commercially zoned area of the city.

Concerned Citizen,
Dennis W. Cuevas

Youth center - not here

Dear Sir:

My wife and I read the article in your paper about the youth center and meeting hall for the Jaycees. We understand that the Jaycees have bought a piece of property in our neighborhood for this purpose.

We agree that the youth of Bay St. Louis need a youth center but it should not be in a residential area and we don't want it in our neighborhood.

Hopes for Youth Center

Editor
Sea Coast

Dear Sir:

As suggested in your excellent Feb. 5th editorial, this note is written about the proposed youth center.

As one individual, may I commend you and the Jaycees on the effort being made to re-establish a youth center. According to reports which come to me from parents and from youth workers in our congregation, the need is real.

Unfortunately, I have no piece of property to offer as a youth meeting place, but I hope that someone will call Mr. Bilbo soon to report such a location.

Youth lauded

Letters to the Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Feb. 8, 1978

Dear Sir,

What is wrong with our youth of today??

Mardi Gras Day found our family on Highway 90 mingling with many others enjoying the Triton Parade, as we have for the past three years. The only thing different this year was that Dix was in a wheelchair.

As the floats passed by throws were pitched by the handful of Dix but due to untrained pitchers and the wind, about 90 percent fell short of his reach, but this didn't matter because little helpers came from every direction to pick them up and place them in his lap.

We were deeply touched to think so many young people really cared. We think our youth of today are very special.

Hedrick warned that the bottom of Lake Pontchartrain will get worse if silt from the river is allowed in the lake every year.

"The sand will filter out into Lake Bourgne, the Intracoastal Canal, the Industrial Canal, the Mississippi River Gulf Outlet and cause these and other areas to fill up with silt," he said, adding, "This will destroy the crabbing industry in Lake Pontchartrain."

Challin O. Perez, Plaquemines Parish, La., commission council president, said if sufficient fresh waters were introduced at any of the suggested points along the Mississippi River that could eventually have beneficial effects as far away as the Mississippi Sound, the Chandeleur Island chain and Dauphin Island in Alabama, hundreds of thousands of acres of inland estuarine areas would probably have to be destroyed by converting those brackish areas into totally fresh areas.

While Perez admitted he supported the proposal to provide fresh water on "a selective basis to certain areas to improve estuarine conditions," he strongly opposed the introduction of unlimited quantities of fresh waters.

"The Plaquemines Parish Commission Council has for generations been aware of the tremendous benefit to our marsh lands and estuaries that occurs as a result of the introduction of substantial quantities of the Mississippi River into saline areas," Perez continued.

But in order for oysters to live, it is necessary that they have a very delicate balance of the proper amount of fresh and salt water, Perez said.

"Too much salt water results in lack of nutrients, and the oysters become skinty and generally unmarketable. Too much fresh water and too many nutrients cause the oysters to die because they cannot live and prosper in totally fresh water," Perez pointed out.

Principals ...

Penton also taught agriculture and vocational agriculture at Washington High School in Neely and McLain High, both in Green County.

He took bachelor of science and master of education degrees at Mississippi State University and completed additional graduate work at University of Southern Mississippi.

Penton is a native of Hancock County. His 1978-1979 salary will be $16,404.

Harlan Hill will enter his second year as principal of Gulfview Elementary School next year at an annual salary of $15,568.

He is a 17-year veteran school administrator and holds a master's degree in education and a AA certificate.

Hill is a former assistant superintendent of Hancock County Schools and a former principal of Hancock North Central Elementary School.

He served eight years in Harrison County-four at Pass High School and four at Woolmarket.

Hancock North Central Elementary retains Principal James O'Hara, a veteran of 16 years in education.

Holder of a master of education degree and AA administrator's certificate, he returns at an annual salary of $15,880.

At an earlier meeting Monday night, the board also last week approved renewal of a Tennessee Gas Transmission Company lease on 5.07 acres of 16th section land in the northeast portion of the county.

The pipeline easement lease, approved earlier by the County Board of Supervisors, runs for ten years with a $25 per acre per year return to the school system.

Randolph said the original 1958 pipeline lease was granted for $2 per acre, and renewed in 1968 at $5 per acre.

Other 16th section transactions approved include a 25-year lease at $336 per year to Harlow Johnson on Lot Two, Subdivision Two of Section 16-Township Nine-Range 16; and approval of a 25-year lease to Mrs. Cora Falcon on one acre at $30 per year in Section 16-Township Six-Range 14.

The tract was formerly leased to Richie Banes.

The board approved a resolution to extend employment of Mrs. Alene Curet through May. The action was a variance from compulsory retirement regulations of the State Board of Education.

The board approved payment of $2,000 in attorney fees to the firm of Gex, Gex and Phillips for services in representing the board in two suits filed during the 1976-1977 school year.

Attorney Walter Gex told board members he will attempt to collect an additional $800 in fees on the two cases from the board's insurer.

The suits were filed by a C.B. Murphy student seeking damages in alleged corporal punishment abuses, and by the American Federation of Teachers on behalf of several teachers to recover pay deductions levied against the teachers when they attended board meetings on school days.

Board member Louie Ladner introduced a resolution seeking assistance from the Board of Supervisors in maintaining parking lots at the various schools.

Ladner noted the lots may be considered public roads and thus entitled to maintenance from the supervisors.

"Some of those lots have holes a car can't get out of," reported Board President Woodrow Ladner. The board approved the resolution.

Board member Monvel Cuevas asked Randolph to draw up for board consideration a revised policy on student exemption from examinations.

Cuevas noted some confusion exists among students, teachers and administrators with most students feeling they should be exempt from all examinations as long as they maintain a C average and attend classes regularly.

President Ladner said he favors exemptions from final examinations only, with everyone taking six weeks and mid-term exams.

"Tests are an essential part of the academic experience," the board president stated.

Randolph noted the policy of exempting students with averages of 70 and records of regular attendance "was an attempt to get the students to school, but it doesn't work."

"We are graduating seniors who don't know how to take a test," Woodrow Ladner feels.

Randolph said students "need to learn to cope with the pressure of taking tests."

Cuevas urged the board to make sure any adjustments in the exemption policy made later be adequately communicated to the students and faculty of the respective schools in the system.

Randolph announced his intention to hold an academic banquet this year honoring students maintaining B averages and above.

He said he would report further on the matter "as soon as details of how to finance such a function can be worked out."

The superintendent said he feels the schools' activities funds could be used. He pointed out that the school board is prohibited by law from sponsoring banquets of any kind with public funds.

"But it's time we take some positive step to recognize our academically superior students," the superintendent said.

He noted annual sports banquets to recognize outstanding athletes are financed through activities funds.

Randolph said he intends to schedule the first academic banquet this spring.

explain the respective rights of the Federal Government and the private landowner(s) to third parties and to provide the latter with a written explanation thereof. He is also authorized to summon assistance, by radio, from the Hancock County Sheriff should this be indicated.

"In addition to the foregoing, aperiodic patrolling of the NSTL Acoustic-Restrictive Easement Area for the purpose of surveillance of the Area and the detection of potential violations of the Government's restrictive easement estate is also being undertaken. (Such a patrol will be in addition to the inspections that currently are being conducted by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Mobile District, the land management agent for the NASA-NSTL.) It is expected that this newly instituted patrol activity will be of the entire road network traversing the Easement Area (approximately 250 miles) and will be scheduled on a random basis, with concentration on potentially "troublesome" areas. In addition to inspecting for violations of the Government's restrictive easement and reporting thereon, this patrol will also be on the alert for vandals, trespassers, campers and others who may be encroaching on the rights of the landowners, private or Government, and will report the same to the proper authorities. Surveillance by NASA-NSTL aircraft is also being undertaken on a monthly basis."

Vincent Mavay, seafood entrepreneur of Biloxi, cited the same statistics on "a dying industry" at the Gulfport hearings less than two weeks ago.

Cuevas said his association would welcome the day when, through the controlled introduction of fresh water in the estuarine areas, "nature will give us once again the supply of oysters needed to satisfy the demands of the United States."

Corps officials said a third preliminary hearing will be scheduled at a date to be announced. In the meantime, the Corps will accept written statements on the question through March 11. Statements should be sent to: U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, P.O. Box 60627, New Orleans, La.

Hill responded that he had been confined from his duties by sickness at the time the bids were placed but that someone in his office had contacted City Hall for dates and times.

Councilman Fred Wagner abstained from voting on the final motion to accept the plans even after hearing Hill explain that the original plans for the overpass had been rejected by the state and the delay occasioned by the necessity to prepare alternate plans had led the city perilously close to the EDA's deadline for fund acceptance.

Council last October had authorized Mayor Larry Bennett to accept EDA grants in connection with the overpass and act on behalf of the city on the project.

Bennett remained silent during the discussion, nor did he make reference to it at any time during his report.

Council President James Triffley said even though preliminary plans have never been received nor final plans approved, the second phase of the project - overpass construction - has been already advertised for bids.

According to council minutes of Oct. 4, the council authorized Mayor Bennett to execute documents on the overpass and act on their behalf.

The minutes state: "Motion was made by Councilman (Harry) Farve, seconded by Councilman (Wilmour) Seymour that Mayor (Larry) Bennett be named project coordinator and be authorized and directed to execute all documents and act in behalf of the City of Bay St. Louis in the following project:

OVERPASS - U. S. 90 AND DUNBAR E.D.A. Project No. 04-51-26866.

The foregoing motion was reduced to writing, and read aloud and put to a roll call vote with the following result:

Voting yea: Councilmen Triffley, Seymour, Benvenuti, and Farve.

Voting nay: None.

Absent and not voting: Councilman

In other matters, Bruce Badon, also of Burk and Associates, on the Smaller Cities Program, developed by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Badon said the revised plan's emphasis is on housing and makes available matching funds for this purpose.

He indicated that low income and needy families stand to gain the greatest benefit from the plan.

The engineer stated cities must compete for the funds and the 1978 guidelines for such application would be soon available.

In other matters council opted to:

-approve a $25 per month, gas allowance for its mechanic;

-compose an ordinance governing property owners installing culverts adjacent to their holdings;

-commend Mayor Bennett on the erection of a city viewing stand for the Triton parade.

Ruben Smith, legendary sheriff, lends horse to prisoner

by S. Grady Thigpen, county historian

Over the years I've heard stories of Ruben Smith, legendary sheriff of Hancock County who served over 100 years ago.

This old sheriff and deputy sheriff served when Gainesville was the county seat of Hancock County.

It seems that a man who lived where McNeil is now, was indicted for some violation of the law. The good sheriff was handed the papers and it was his duty to go arrest this man and bring him to the Hancock county jail.

The sheriff got on his saddle horse and went to arrest the man. He served the papers and told him to get ready to go with him to be put in jail. The man was soon ready to go, but he had no transportation. So the sheriff told him they would travel slowly and the prisoner would have to walk.

After they got down the road a few miles, the prisoner told the sheriff that he was tired and could not walk any further. The sheriff told him he could ride his horse for awhile and get rested.

The prisoner got on the horse. After going a short distance down the road, the prisoner spurred the horse to a good gait and soon disappeared down the road. The sheriff thought he would stop when he got a little distance down the road, but after going several miles without sight of the man on his horse, the sheriff stopped at a place in what is now east Picaune and arranged with the owner to let him have a horse to ride on into Gainesville saying he would return the horse later.

As the story goes, when the sheriff finally reached the jail, there sat the prisoner on the steps waiting for him. The man was convicted at the next term of court and he served his sentence in the jail at Gainesville.

It is the usual thing for a man to be put in jail, but in the case of this prisoner something very unusual and never before heard of happened. This man had to be put out of jail instead of in jail.

When the man refused to leave the jail, he was asked why. He told the officials that he fared better in the jail than he did at home and wanted to stay there. For the first time on record and the only time of which there is a record, the man was forcibly put out of jail.

Years later, when this former prisoner had become an old man, the railroad was built through this section. The former prisoner got on the train at McNeil, and then he again did a very unusual thing. When the conductor came around to collect the ticket for the man's passage, he held out his hand to the man with which to receive his ticket. The man had no ticket but jumped up and shook hands with the conductor.

When the passenger refused to make any effort to pay his fare, the conductor stopped the train and told him to get off. When he refused to get off the train, two of the train's crew forcibly removed him from the train.

As the crewmen got on the train and it was ready to start, the man ran and caught on to the train and got back on.

The crewmen repeated this two times and finally gave up and let him ride on to his destination. When the trainmen reported what had happened they were instructed to let the old man ride free whenever he got on one of their passenger trains.

It was customary back in the old days for the sheriff, who was also the tax collector, to call on his citizens for their taxes when they did not go to the courthouse to pay.

Sheriff Smith went around over the big county to collect taxes. On one occasion he called at the home of an old French settler to collect the taxes due. The old Frenchman could not speak or understand English. When one of his sons told him of the sheriff's mission there, the old man went into a rage, and said he came to this country to avoid paying taxes, and that if he had to pay taxes, this was not a free country.

When the Sheriff pressed his effort for collection of the taxes, the old man ran for his gun. While his sons tried to explain to him another one of the sons told the sheriff to go on away and he would pay the taxes in a few days.

The sheriff left hurriedly to avoid any trouble with the old man; he ran to his horse and jumped on and spurred the horse to make a quick get away but in his hurry, he had failed to untie the horse and had to jump down and untie him before he could take off.

Other incidents were told about Sheriff Smith's operation of his office. One of them was of the time he got away from his office to a remote part of Hancock county. At that time, there were no bridges and due to heavy rains, the streams all got up and stayed impassable for many days. There was fear at his home that something bad had happened to him, but in about a week or so, the water went down and the sheriff made it home again, giving his family a vast relief.

USM financial aid opportunities told

The Office of Financial Aid at the University of Southern Mississippi is accepting scholarship and financial aid applications for the 1978-79 academic year, the office said this week.

Any student wishing consideration for a scholarship or who will need financial assistance in order to attend USM can pick up an application from his high school counselor. Application are also available on request from the financial aid office at USM.

Financial aid director William Fron said in addition to university aid applications, his office also requires the applicant complete the ACT Family Financial Statement. ACT statements can also be obtained from any high school counselor.

Fron said the federal government has combined the ACT statement and the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) application into one form. Now, a student need only to complete the ACT statement in order to apply for the National Direct Student Loan and College Work-Study Programs, as well as the BEOG program.

Data to complete the application and the ACT financial statement must be taken directly from parents' 1977 federal income tax forms. Fron said this will require parents filing their tax early in order for a student to complete the financial aid material and meet the March 15 priority date. All materials must be received by the priority date to receive full consideration. At least two weeks should be allowed for processing the ACT statement.

Further information is available from his office at USM, Southern State Box 101, Hattiesburg, MS 39401 or by calling Tel (601) 266-4257.

PHI THETA KAPPA initiates this week at Pearl River Junior College included Pam Magee of Bay St. Louis, left, and Mimi Martin, Waveland. In order to qualify for membership of this honor society, a student must have completed 12 hours of academic work and have ranked in the top ten percent of the college. PTK is a national honorary fraternity on the campuses of junior colleges throughout the U.S. Students who pledged were described by college president Enoch Seal as being "...the cream of the crop."

Soybeans cited 'bright spot' in farm economy

Soybeans are one of the few bright spots in the U.S. farm economy according to Jeff Gain, director of legislative and field services, American Soybean Association.

"Proof that buyers are favorable to soybeans is evident," Gain told more than 600 Mississippi farmers who attended the 14th annual Mississippi Soybean Day. "The day after the USDA announced a record planting intentions of nearly 64 million acres, soybean market prices were even stronger."

Second district Congressman David Bowen told the farmers he was concerned about the general financial problems they face. "I do not pretend to have all the answers to these difficult problems, but I am concerned," Bowen said. "While I am pleased to have an excellent relationship with the leadership of the Mississippi Soybean Association, I want to encourage individual farmers to let me know how they feel about the issues. In addition, the House Agriculture Committee of which I am a member will be holding hearings in the near future on the problems facing agriculture. The 1977 farm bill certainly isn't perfect but at the time it was passed, everyone had their say and seemed pleased with it." Bowen stressed the need to stimulate foreign demand and said that the PL-480 and CCC loan programs have been expanded.

The annual Soybean Day, was held at the new Extension Center at Mississippi State University. MSA President Ralph Weems, Jr. of West Point chaired the morning session.

J. Tol Thomas, III, of Cruger was elected president; James M. Ferguson, Calhoun City, vice president; and Dr. Wayne Jordan, Extension agronomist-soybeans, MSU, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Karl Fangau, ASA country director from West Germany, spoke optimistically about the soybean market potential. He reported excellent growth in the use of soy oil in Italy and Germany as a result of ASA's identified soy oil campaign.

"Soybean meal had been replaced by its competition in recent years because of export controls and high prices," Fangau said. "Now that these conditions have changed and demand for livestock feed is high, soybeans should be in strong demand in Europe."

Throughout the day, speakers stressed the need for additional soybean research. J. Tol Thomas, III, chairman of the Mississippi Soybean Promotion Board, reported on research projects funded by the one cent per bushel grower checkoff funds. Dr. Lavonne Lambert, MSU entomologist, talked about recognition and control of soybean insects. Ruel Nester, University of Arkansas Extension agronomist, discussed irrigation of soybeans and Dr. Robert Williams, MSU ag economist, talked about the soybean outlook, including costs and returns.

FLEAS AND TICKS NOT SO SMALL A PROBLEM

Fleas and ticks are exceptions to the rule that good things come in small packages. Their diminutive size often allows their number to build up unnoticed until the pet begins a frenzied scratching.

Fleas are small wingless parasites well known for their jumping ability. The long, dark brown females generally gather on the tender skin at the base of the ears and around the neck. They feed on blood and secrete a toxic saliva that causes irritation and skin inflammation. If you suspect your pet has fleas, part the hair at the neck. You may find fleas moving through the fur, or find droppings that look much like pepper. Fleas spend considerable time off the host animals, returning only to feed. Thus droppings may be the lonely sign of infestation.

Flea control means treating both the pet and its environment. Commercially prepared dusts and sprays applied to your pet's coat may kill or only stun the insects, and they then must be combed from the fur. Insecticidal shampoos are more effective on long-haired pets or those with a heavy infestation. The pet's bedding and surrounding area must be treated with a disinfectant to kill adult fleas and eggs which will hatch and reinfest the animal. Other areas where your pet spends considerable amounts of time also need cleaning.

Rounder and larger than fleas, ticks also require a blood meal for reproduction. They frequent the same areas as fleas, but can be found anywhere on the body. The larval stage or "seed tick" is hardly larger than a small freckle. A mature dark brown female filled with blood may be half an inch or longer.

Most pets tolerate a few ticks but become irritated and restless as the numbers increase. Dogs especially can develop secondary skin infections where they try to rub or scratch the ticks away.

To rid your pet of ticks, use an approved insecticide rather than attempting to pull the tick, which may be imbedded in the skin. Pulling the tick free can be risky, because mouth parts or the head left in the skin can be painful and may result in a nasty infection.

Make certain the ticks you remove are destroyed. A carelessly discarded female tick can produce several hundred offspring, which may reinfest your dog.

There are several preventive measures you can take to minimize the flea and tick problem:

Provide your pet with clean, pest-free sleeping quarters. Examine both cats and dogs regularly during flea and tick season, especially if the pet has been walking through a field or other grassy area.

Don't wait for signs of extreme itching or scratching before using a flea or tick shampoo.

Don't expect a flea or tick collar to completely control the problem. The collars lose their effectiveness when they get wet and should be replaced every few months. Pets wearing pest control collars should be checked regularly for signs of skin irritation from the chemicals in the collar.

In extreme situations, when your pet is overwrought with itching or scratching, see your veterinarian for professional treatment. An antipruritic ointment and a sedative will add greatly to your pet's comfort.

Dr. Stear regrets he is unable to personally answer letters from pet owners. He suggests readers consult their own veterinarians when their pets have problems.

THE OLE PASTOR SAYS...

"THE SAVIOUR SAID: SEARCH THE SCRIPTURES: for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are they which testify of me" (John 5:39).

In an age where falsehood, fraud and frustration is so commonplace, the Bible stands as a great bastion whose foundations are unshakable.

Its promises have never failed; its inspired truths have withstood every effort to refute it. Its harmony and consistency is the crown jewel of all literature.

Hours spent in prayerful searching of its glorious contents is an investment of time of inestimable value.

Someone has tersely summed up its contents like this: The Bible contains: the mind of God, the state of man, the way of salvation, the doom of sinners, and the happiness of believers.

Its doctrines are holy, its precepts are binding, its histories are true, and its decisions are unchangeable. Read it to be wise, believe it to be safe, tell it to serve God, and practice it to be holy.

It contains light to direct you, food to support you, and comfort to cheer you. It is the traveler's map, the pilgrim's staff, the pilot's compass, the soldier's sword, and the Christian's charter.

Here Paradise is restored, Heaven opened, and the gates of Hell disclosed. CHRIST is its Grand Subject, our good its design, and the glory of God its end. It should fill the memory, rule the heart, and guide the feet. Read it slowly, frequently, and prayerfully. It is a mine of wealth, a paradise of glory, and a river of pleasure.

It is given you in life, will be opened in the Judgment, and will be remembered forever. It involves the highest responsibility, rewards the greatest labor, and condemns all who trifle with its holy contents.

The Bible, as it was given to "holy men of old" in the original languages, is the Word of God.

God said it; we should believe it; and that should settle it!

"Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (II Tim. 2:15).

Christ Episcopal is setting for Griffith couple nuptials

Yvonne Fay Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Jackson of Clermont Harbor, became the bride of Bryon Oscar Griffith in an evening candlelight ceremony, Saturday, Feb. 4, at Christ Episcopal Church. The groom is the son of Colonel and Mrs. Roy W. Griffith of Arlington, Virginia.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Reverend Nathan Barber of the First Baptist Church of Bay St. Louis. Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Pat Hill, and Mrs. Lana Noonan, vocalist, sang "We've Only Just Begun," "You Light Up My Life," and "The Wedding Song." Arrangements of white gladioli, white and pink carnations and baby's breath, palm greenery, and candleabra decorated the sanctuary.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta with long tapered sleeves, portrait neckline accented with lace ruffling, and fitted waist. The full hoop-skirt featured ruffled lace inserts on either side and lace ruffles encircled the hemline and chapel length train. A pearl encrusted headpiece held her fingertip veil which was bordered with matching lace. She wore pearl necklace and earrings. She carried a nosegay of pink and white roses, miniature carnations and lily of the valley with satin ribbon streamers.

Attending the bride as Matron of Honor was Mrs. Yvonne Garcia of Clermont Harbor. Maid of honor was her sister, Paula Jackson. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Helen Jackson of Waveland, her sister-in-law; Miss Dinah Courrage, a cousin, of New Orleans; Mrs. Barbara Griffith, sister-in-law of the groom, of Hattiesburg; Mrs. Mary Klein, Clermont Harbor; Mrs. Bobbie Worrell, Bay St. Louis, and Mrs. Debbie Collins of Biloxi. Flower girl was Miss Tina Griffith, the groom's niece, of Hattiesburg.

Escorted by the groomsmen down the candlelit aisle, the bridesmaids were identically attired in deep pink organza gowns featuring capelet collars and ruffle flounces at the hemline with bustle effect in the back. Their short veil headpieces were held in place by pink blossoms and they carried nosegays of pink carnations, baby's breath and burgundy roses.

Best man to the bridegroom was Mark Bonner of Arlington, VA. Groomsmen were Roy Griffith of Arlington and Donald Griffith of Hattiesburg, his brothers; Glenn Jackson, brother of the bride; Jerry Jackson of New Orleans, her uncle; Larry Bobinger of Gulfport; Dale Fairchild of Hattiesburg, and John Sarfain of Natchez. Ring bearer was Paul Jackson, cousin of the bride, of New Orleans.

Serving as ushers were Fred DeHaan, Waveland; Gerald Boos, Clermont Harbor; Temple Jackson, uncle of the bride, New Orleans, and Kelsey O'Steen of Hattiesburg.

A reception was held at Virginia Hall following the ceremony where Mrs. Jackson received guests wearing a formal gown of pink chiffon featuring rolled collar and caplet. She wore a corsage of dubonnet camellias. Mrs. Griffith wore a burgundy knit gown with matching chiffon overlay, and a corsage of pink roses.

The skirted reception tables held arrangements of pink and white blossoms and candleabra. The bride's table held a four-tiered wedding cake with pink sugar spun roses. Mrs. Ott Brockman, an aunt of the bride, assisted by her daughter Kissy, cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Brockman also presided at the guest register. Tea girls were Misses Leslie and Shelly Haverty, and Christine Longo, of Waveland; and Marlene Breaux of Kiln.

Upon their return Mrs. and Mrs. Griffith will reside in Hattiesburg.

Evening candlelight service unites New Orleans couple

Trinity Lutheran Church in New Orleans formed the setting for the evening ceremony uniting Miss Denise Annette Buhler and Shane Richard Premeaux on Dec. 23. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Charles Buhler of New Orleans and Waveland, and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Donat Premeaux of Gueydan, La.

Rev. Edwin L. Coyner officiated at the double ring, candlelight ceremony. Mrs. Charlotte Brown, New Orleans, provided appropriate organ selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown of satepeau and ivory organza complimented with aleonon lace trim and embellished with seed pearls. The matching veil of net illusion repeated the embroidered lace design. She carried a nosegay of white sweetheart roses, stephanotis and holly.

Mrs. Bonnie S. Serpas, Summerville, S.C., attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Sherri and Vicki Spetzagle of Beaumont, Tex.

Best man was Lt. Roger D. Abshire of Gueydan.

NEDT tests Gulfview

The Gulfview Elementary School will shortly administer the National Educational Development Tests, a testing program that helps professional educators, parents, and students plan together for the educational and vocational future of the students.

Harlin E. Hill, principal, said this week the NEDT Program is being used to give the school the type of information it needs in helping its students make realistic decisions.

"The NEDT will help us to help the student plan wisely for his or her education and future career."

"The program will reveal how well the students can apply the skills they have acquired since entering school. It will help us recognize the strengths in each student's educational development and, at the same time, will pinpoint weaknesses. This information will enable us to help a particular student while in school, and will serve as a guide in helping us to improve our educational program," Hill said.

Ignorance of alcohol said threat

"The largest threat imposed by alcohol in the school systems today is what the students don't know," is the belief of Randy Easterling, mental health associate, Gulf Coast Mental Health Center. Easterling spoke recently to more than 1,000 students and teachers at Long Beach High School in connection with National Alcohol and Drug Abuse Awareness Week.

Easterling visited six classes per day, showing a film and encouraging discussion on the subject of alcohol abuse. His purpose, he said, is to provide responsible information on the problem of alcoholism.

"Probably half of all high school students have alcohol somehow involved in their lives, either personally or through family and friends," Easterling said, "and yet most of them still perceive the problem as a 'skid-row bum' rather than a middle class member of society much like themselves."

Easterling plans to extend his alcohol information program to other high schools in the area in an effort to make students, teachers, and parents aware of the primary danger signals of alcoholism.

Requests for information or services concerning substance abuse may be directed to the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center at 555-1132.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT

Mississippi Crop & Livestock Reporting Service

WEEK ENDING: February 4, 1978
RELEASED: February 6, 1978

WEATHER SUMMARY
Temperatures were much below normal over the state during the week, with average daily temperatures about 17 degrees lower than usual over almost the entire state. The lowest reading was nine degrees at Oxford on the 28th, while the warmest was 63 degrees at Biloxi on the 28th and 30th. Rainfall was fairly heavy over the southern counties, but was light to moderate in the central and northern sections. Totals for the south were near two inches, while 3/4 inch or less was the rule elsewhere. Gulfport received 1.03 inches on the 1st for the greatest 24 hour total. No precipitation was recorded over the weekend as fair weather prevailed over the state.

CROP SUMMARY
Farmers major activity was feeding and caring for livestock this past week. Farmers spent the rest of their time repairing machinery and planning for 1978.

Soil moisture supplies were surplus to excessive. An average of 0.1 days was suitable for fieldwork compared to 0.2 days last week and 0.8 days for the same week last year.

Winter wheat and oats were in poor condition. Livestock were in fair condition. Hay and roughage feed supplies were adequate to short, with other feed grain supplies stored on farms short.

COMMENTS
TALLAHATCHIE CO. "Continued bad weather prevented outside work. Livestock feed getting short. Winter grazing crops looking bad. Farmers attending meetings and planning next year's crop."

CALHOUN CO. "Weather cold most of week. Warmer and some sunshine on Friday. Heavy feeding pressure has caused feed supplies to dwindle fast."

TIPPAH CO. "Farmers are buying hay and grain for their livestock. The extreme low temperature and ice stopped winter grazing three weeks ago."

YAZOO CO. "Severe weather during the month of January required additional quantities of feed for livestock. Little benefit has been realized from grazing crops. As a result the supply of feed could become a pressing problem."

CARROLL CO. "Wheat and oats have been badly damaged by prolonged cold spell which has caused farmers to feed up roughage faster than normal."

NESHOBA CO. "Cold, wet weather - cattlemen having to feed cows everything they get."

ADAMS CO. "It seems like it is cold and raining everyday; the ground is soggy. There's not much that can be done outside but care for livestock."

AMITE CO. "Cold and rain causing stress on livestock"

First place winner was Infant of Prague CYO from Nacaise Crossing. St. Peter's CYO, Pascagoula was second. Congratulations also to CYO entries from St. Thomas, Long Beach; Annunciation, Kiln; Sacred Heart, Biloxi.

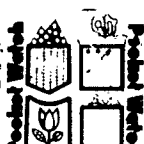

We would also like to thank C.J. Hoda for coaching the Infant of Prague team.

Ten delegates will be representing Infant of Prague CYO at the Biloxi Diocesan Convention on February 24, 25, and 26. They are Marlene Breaux, LaRisa Cuevas, Kaylene Ladner, Joy Nacaise, Jack Breaux, Bubba Hebert, Buddy Hoda, Morgan Ladner, Dean Nacaise, and George Scheppegrell.

and winter grazing. No sunshine at all this week. Very little to no growth on ryegrass and oats requiring more demand on hay and feed grain supplies."

LAWRENCE CO. "Most farmers feeding livestock and repairing equipment. This Sunday ends four weeks of cold, freezing weather with sleet, snow, and rain. Everyone is ready to see some "sunshine."

HANCOCK CO. "Weather continues to be wet and cold. Livestock management remains the only possible work this week on most all farms. Winter pastures are short putting more pressure on hay and feed grain supplies."

SELECTING FROZEN FOODS

Buying quality frozen fruits and vegetables is a greater challenge than buying canned ones. Once you've learned a reliable brand of most any canned item, you can be fairly sure that each repeat purchase will be the same quality. This is not true of frozen foods, because their quality retention is so dependent on constant low temperatures from the processor to your table.

Brands and sometimes grade marks on frozen food packages give a clue to the quality of the product before and during processing. The label tells characteristics of the original fresh product.

For example, whole baby okra is more tender than cut okra, and broccoli spears are likely to be more tender than the chopped broccoli. These and other important bits of information appear on frozen fruit and vegetable packages.

The most important quality control measure - constant low temperature - is not written on packages. Sometimes you can judge quality before purchasing, but more often you cannot.

Most commercially frozen fruits and vegetables will maintain top quality for a year at 0 degrees F., but for each degree increased in temperature, storage life is shortened. In retail frozen food counters, there are three common signs of fluctuating temperatures. The most obvious is softness of packages, which indicates that food is at least partly thawed at the time and may have been for several days.

Ice covered packages and products packed above the freezer-fill line are also almost sure signs that some contents of that frozen food counter are, or have been partially thawed.

When you buy a package of frozen food and open it, the most immediate sign of fluctuating temperature damage is a large deposit of frost or ice crystals inside the package.

This excess frost build-up is

TIPPING BEGINS - In this deliberately staged demonstration, a long object is placed with superior stability upon a platform which suddenly reverses to tilt the machine tipping forward.

DRIVE LOADER TO BOOM - While the initial tendency is to get out of the loader, it is safer to remain in the machine. Place the boom in the "lower" position and slowly drive the loader to the bucket.

LOADER CONTINUES FORWARD - Two primary safety practices in loader operation are using protective equipment, seat belt and hard hat, and when handling a heavy load, keeping the boom low.

LOADER RICH IS ITSELF - Remaining with the machine is safer than crawling out and forcing someone else to re-enter and right it. If machine stalls, the starting motor has enough torque to creep forward.

LOADER RESTS ON BOOM - When it's necessary to operate a loader with a full bucket, raised, observe Operating Load limits, avoid making turns and sudden moves and check the surrounding terrain.

BACK IN PROPER POSITION - This staged demonstration by Sperry New Holland also illustrates importance of safety gear. Seated belt operator in place and the hard hat afforded additional protection.

4-H PET CARE PROJECT

The 4-H pet project is open to owners of many different kinds of pets.

What is a pet? Strictly speaking, a pet is any living thing that takes up residence in your home and becomes dependent on you for its survival. Almost any kind of creature can be considered a pet.

Just as you are free to choose your friends, you are equally free to choose a pet. But pets are your companions and only a limited number qualify as truly satisfactory. Rabbits, hamsters, mice, fish and birds are among the most popular pets, while dogs and cats remain where they have been through the ages - in the top spots as man's best friends.

Which one for you? Everyone knows that a pet can join a household by accident, whim, or chance. You might inherit a parrot, or give a night's shelter to an abandoned kitten (who insists on repaying you by living with you forever). In these instances, after Mother and Dad agree, you have little choice; all you can do, if you decide to keep it, is make it a pleasant addition to your family.

Often you will have needed time for reflection, time to look over pet possibilities with your family. Then you can vote for the pet most appealing to all of you and best suited for your life style. After all, you may be choosing a companion for the next ten or 15 years. You should ask yourself how much you are willing to give - not only in terms of money - but in terms of your own time. Chances are the whole family will enjoy thrashing out the pros and cons of each possible pet.

Be realistic about your living conditions and your own capacities. If you feel a certain type of pet would burden your family too much, ADMIT IT. Even so, you needn't face a petless future. You can get pleasure when your canary sings, when your tropical fish swarm to the side of the tank, and when your white mice do wild acrobatics. None of these pets scratches at the door and imperiously demands to be taken for a walk in the rain just when you're deep in a mystery story or putting a soufflé in the oven.

Who owns whom? Ideally people own animals. Sometimes the reverse is true. Families can become dominated by their pets.

Remember, you are completely responsible for your pet. If your pet misbehaves or causes damage you may blame the pet, but everyone else will blame you. Because you are completely responsible for your pet, it is important to train him to be well behaved.

Contact your 4-H Youth Leader for information on a specific pet.

DIXIE NATIONAL BARROW SHOW

February 12-14 are red letter dates for Mississippi pork producers wanting to improve the quality of their breeding stock. These are the dates for the Dixie National Barrow Show at the state fairgrounds in Jackson. The breeding animal sale will begin at noon Feb. 13.

The show will feature a good source of boars and gilts that will improve production. Pork producers who want top quality breeding stock should make plans now to attend.

WINTER GRAZING

Ryegrass and wheat pastures can be severely damaged by improper grazing during extremely cold or wet weather. Cattle grazing on these crops during wet weather will track and bog fields, making regrowth to an adequate stand difficult. Grazing during extremely cold weather has similar effects; plus frozen cells may be damaged. Each hoofprint will kill or severely damage wheat and ryegrass.

To prevent this damage, reduce grazing on wheat and ryegrass pastures during bad weather. This might call for the use of more winter feed, but it will result in more total season forage production.

STILL TIME TO LIME

Lime can still be spread in time to benefit 1978 crops. The use of lime on soils with a pH below 5.5 can increase per acre yields of soybeans as much as 10 bushels. Liming can also increase cotton yields one-half bale per acre and corn yields 30 bushels per acre.

Apply lime before spring seedbed preparation begins so the lime will be mixed with the soil during these operations.

STRAWBERRY PLANTING

Strawberries can be planted in most parts of Mississippi until the end of February. One of the most important parts of growing strawberries is replanting care. After getting your plants, don't let the roots dry out before planting. If you can't plant them immediately, cover the roots with moist sawdust and sand until they can be planted.

If you plan to plant strawberries this year but haven't bought your plants yet, contact your county agent's office for varieties recommended for Mississippi.

PRICES RELEASED

February 3, 1978

The Jan. 15, 1978 Index of Prices received by Mississippi farmers for all commodities was unchanged from the previous month's index, the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service announced today. The index was 203 percent of its January-December 1967 average for the month ended Jan. 15, 1978. The current index is 18 points (eight percent) below the January 15, 1977 average.

The All Crop Index (1967 equals 100) at 224 was seven points (three percent) below the index for December 1977. Price for soybeans was down during the month.

UNDERGROUND UTILITIES

You know what's above ground on your property, but do you know what's underground? Maintaining a record of buried utility lines, septic tanks and other underground objects can help you avoid confusion and accidents when digging on your property. File this record with your property ownership papers.

When you buy property, ask for a record of buried utilities. Before digging, use the record or check with utility companies to reduce danger, confusion and expense.

Ingredients These are high fiber, low energy ingredients that are not desirable in a dairy ration.

CONGRATULATIONS TO MR. AND MRS. GREG SHAW ON THE BIRTH OF THEIR SON

Thursday, Feb. 9 at the Crosby Memorial Hospital in Picayune.

COMMODITY CONFERENCE AT THE CENT AMERICAN FARM BUREAU FEDERATION ANNUAL MEETING IN HOUSTON, TEXAS

That the biggest problem United States cotton producers face in using marketing alternatives is their widespread failure to make the right choice at the right time. Among the options, he said, were how much acreage to plant, who to sell to in order to secure the highest price, what type of sales technique to use on production, and when to sell.

How else can we say it but a lot of cotton and soybean farmers opted wrong this year. Then add that to high production costs and the dilemma comes into focus.

Lastly, should farmers get what some of them currently are demanding, what have we got?

The stock answer might be "governmental control of agriculture" with prices and acreages decreed by USDA. But further competitiveness in world and domestic markets would be down the drain. A couple of weeks ago, Ag Sec Bob Bergland explained that 100 percent parity for cotton is as much as 40 percent above the current market price.

Parity is not a government program or a promise from Uncle Sam, God, or anybody else. It merely is a gauge that measures the comparative outflow and inflow of farmers' wallets. Parity is not mentioned in the United States Constitution, its amendments, nor Holy Writ. It does, however, let USDA know when farmers are making money or losing it. Today a lot of them are losing money, fast, but still others whose crops and marketing systems are different are making money. The common denominator problem that has hurt them all severely is inflation.

Is parity really a couple of fences away from every farm, those farmers? The way things went this past year and for several others before, generally yes. Did it have to be that way? No!

Hugh Arant, president of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, was discussing this situation with Mississippi farmers at a recent commodity conference in Jackson. Arant pointed out that there wasn't a farmer in the room that could not have achieved parity in 1978 (provided weather and insect conditions didn't interfere). He had contracted his cotton or soybean crops early in the season when prices were at their highest level. Instead, he said, many of us held on contracting hoping to see the prices go higher, but they went down instead.

David W. Cox, vice president of economic research and development of Cotton Incorporated, told the group attending the south-
